Summary of reasons for decision:

The computer moving image file promotes and supports the exploitation of children persons for sexual purposes, the use of violence to compel a person to submit to sexual conduct, and the infliction of extreme violence and cruelty. It is therefore deemed to be objectionable under multiple criteria of s3(2) of the Films, Videos, and Publications Classification Act 1993. It is an explicit record of a young child being raped. The publication normalises and encourages a sexual interest in children, sexual violence and cruelty, and is intended for the arousal and gratification of people with a sexual interest in children. The classification of this publication interferes with the right to freedom of expression set out in the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990. However, this is an outcome that is consistent with Parliament's intention and is a reasonable limitation on the freedom of expression.

The classification reflects the concern of a free and democratic society to protect its young and vulnerable members from sexual exploitation.
